Morphine Myths

Morphine is a narcotic (opioid) used to relieve pain and manage difficulty breathing. A prescription is required to get morphine.

Let’s explore a few of the myths about morphine:

1. Myth: Morphine causes drowsiness and mental clouding.
   Fact: When morphine is started drowsiness and mental clouding are frequent side effects which usually subside within 72 hours.

2. Myth: Morphine should only be given for severe pain.
   Fact: Morphine is used effectively for the management of pain and difficulty breathing. As pain increases, the morphine dose can be adjusted upward to treat the increased pain. Morphine is considered the gold standard for three reasons:
   - a. It is very effective and works quickly.
   - b. It can be administered by many routes.
   - c. It relieves pain and difficulty breathing.

3. Myth: Morphine is addictive.
   Fact: Addiction is impaired control over drug use and can result in inappropriate medication use. Hospice patients taking morphine to control common hospice symptoms such as pain or difficulty breathing is an example of appropriate medication use. This type of use is not considered addiction.

4. Myth: Morphine stops breathing.
   Fact: Morphine is the drug of choice for managing difficulty breathing. Administering morphine allows the patient with difficulty breathing to rest more comfortably.

5. Myth: People who take morphine die sooner.
   Fact: There is no evidence to support that morphine hastens death. Morphine is used to keep the patient comfortable. The timing of the patient death is because of the illness.

Can I be allergic to morphine?
You can be allergic to morphine just like any other medicine. Report signs of allergy immediately to your nurse and discontinue the medication. Side effects can be mild or extremely bothersome, but do not always require stopping the medication.
